Produced by Ryan Andersen (Nickelback, Theory of a Dead Man, Pearl Jam, Bryan Adams, Blind Melon, Default), the album consists of 8 original high energy rock tunes and 1 remake of Slade's early 80's hit Run Runaway.

Lions As Ravens is a blend of rock, pop and punk bringing the listener hard driving melodies and infectious rock hooks. The first single "Here We Go" has already impacted sports fans as it was used for the Canadian Football League's Saskatchewan Roughriders as the team's run out song for the season. As a result Arcana Kings performed in front of 30,000 plus screaming Rider fans for the Western Semi Finals halftime show.

Arcana Kings came together from members of the Johnny McCuaig Band. Johnny McCuaig on rhythm guitar, lead vocals and bagpipes, Kevin Kyle on bass, James Picton on lead guitar, Allan Morrison on rhythm guitar and backing vocals, and Graham Templeman on drums and backing vocals. Expanding on their growing popularity, the group took the opportunity to re-brand with the release of Lions as Ravens embracing their fresh new sound.

This 5 piece band has branded their music "Stadium Rock" because of their high energy show and their ability to mesmerize audiences with their big sound. While using the bagpipes on songs like "Here We Go" "Unbreakable" and "Head Full Of Devil", Arcana Kings take a page from AC/DC's Long Way to the Top and combine it with the influences of Foo Fighters and Danko Jones.
